

Baltimore Woods
Nature Center
Nature in your hands

Faces in Nature

Have you ever looked at tree bark or a cloud drifting in the sky and thought, “That kind of looks like a face”? Things in nature often trick the eye because of their tiny intricate details. Go out in search of things that look like animal or human faces. While you’re out, collect supplies for a fun craft! You’ll want to look for pine cones, sticks, leaves, rocks, or seeds. Once your supplies are collected, use them to create a self portrait! It helps to have a picture of yourself or a mirror near by. Draw an outline on paper or make it on the ground!

Picture from Tippytoe.com

Picture from picklebums.com

